

WEISS CONTRACTORS RENOVATE SEVERAL HIGH-TECH FACILITIES FOR THE RAYTHEON COMPANY

BUILDING VALUE

“We’ve always been very pleased with Weiss’ responsiveness, attention to detail, and ability to quickly address concerns... makes them the clear choice for our renovation and construction project needs.”

Steve Cox, Manager- Facilities Engineering, Raytheon Company.

Project Description. Multiple, multi-faceted renovation construction projects
Owner. Raytheon Company
Location. Multiple projects in Garland, Texas

THE SITUATION

Headquartered in Waltham, Massachusetts, Raytheon Company hired Weiss Contractors to complete a multitude of projects in its Garland, Texas campus. Many of the facilities have required the complex management of several different phases, while simultaneously adhering to strict Government and Raytheon security requirements.

THE CHALLENGES

Several of the new facilities presented construction obstacles including scheduling challenges and safety concerns. Most recently, Weiss completed an office space renovation project requiring the removal of existing walls and finishes, and the rebuilding of new offices, conference rooms, and computer labs. Under normal circumstances, this project would have typically required a six month construction schedule. Weiss completed this renovation within the requested three month deadline. Also, several safety challenges had to be addressed. Construction crew members were required to consistently comply with safety protocol measures in order to maintain a risk-free work environment, while Raytheon employees were still occupying the facility.

SEARCHING FOR A SOLUTION

Weiss Contractors, with its more than 50 employees, brings a host of specialties to every construction project including concrete, demolition, painting, drywall, plumbing, mechanical, ceiling installation, doors and frames, design build, assembly, technology, tenant improvements, computer rooms and annual maintenance. For its Raytheon customer, Weiss met each challenge head-on, bringing together their superior construction team to complete the projects on-time and on-budget.

THE RESULTS

Weiss Contractors adhered to stringent Government and Company security regulations, as well as maintained strict safety protocols at all times, resulting in the highest standard of service.

“We’ve always been very pleased with Weiss’ responsiveness, attention to detail, and ability to quickly address concerns,” explained Steve Cox, Raytheon Manager of Facilities Engineering. “Their quality of work, competitive pricing structure and familiarity with our requirements makes them the clear choice for our renovation and construction project needs.”
